Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WILLIAM MASON.

The said negro is about 25 years of age and about 5 feet six inches high, of a yellow complexion; he had on a blue cotton jacket, and linen trowsers. When committed, he said he was the property of Mr. Elliot, of Baltimore, but now says he is the property of a Mr. Tyson, of the same place, and that he will be entitled to his freedom in a short time.
The owner is requested to come forward and prove property, pay charges and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

PURCHASED BY
Oct 4 LAWRASON & FOWLE.

Mr. Editor,

KNOWING that there is a number of the most worthless of society, who make it a business to spread evil reports respecting the solvency of banks in the different parts of the United States, for the purpose of depreciating and purchasing their paper. I feel it is my duty to give a list of the Banks of the District of Columbia, that it may be made known to all persons in every part of the Union, that the said Banks do pay specie for their notes, on demand, and that they are justly entitled to the highest credit and standing, and that they are opposed to a suspension of specie payments, and will be the last in the country that will agree to such a measure. This communication is made to prevent imposition, and to inform all persons who may have the paper of those banks, in any part of the Union, that they may hold it as so much specie. Persons emigrating and travelling north, south or west, would do well by taking the notes of those banks, as they will always find them equal to specie, and often to command a premium of 5 to 10 per cent, for remittances to Baltimore, Philadelphia & New-York. To my numerous acquaintances (trading men,) and the community, I pledge myself for the foregoing.
The following are the banks of this district that pay specie for their notes on demand, viz:
The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown,
Central Bank of Georgetown & Washington,
Union Bank of Georgetown.
Bank of Columbia,
Bank of the Metropolis,
Patriotic Bank of Washington,
Bank of Washington,
Bank of Alexandria,
Union Bank of Alexandria,
Farmers' Bank of Alexandria,
Bank of Potomac,
Branch Bank of the United States at Washington.
I hold myself responsible for the foregoing declaration to the public. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 26th day of May 1819.

ON THE TIMES.

A gentleman who was pleased with the tone and sentiments of a Discourse, delivered by Bishop Moore, in the monumental Church, on Sunday last, and was induced to believe that they might do service to those who had not heard them, applied to the Bishop, who was so kind as to furnish him with the following Extract.

[Enquirer

EXTRACT.

The value which we attach to wealth, and the pleasure we promise ourselves in the possession of riches, is deceptive and vain. The humble cottager who rises in the morning to his labors, and obtains by that labor his daily bread, partakes of more genuine felicity, than the individual who rolls in splendour and fareth sumptuously every day; his constitution provided his conduct is marked with the features of sobriety, is more robust: his cheek is gladdened with the blush of health; a smile of contentment is seen in his countenance; his appetite is rendered keen by employment, and having no cares to distract his mind, he commits his head to his pillow in peace, and awakes refreshed by his tranquil slumbers.—The expectant of no fortune, he is never disappointed in his views; he labours for support alone; he cultivates his fields with industry, and looks to heaven for the former and the latter rain to mature his crops. His wife and children are rendered happy in the enjoyment he possesses; the voice of joy and health is in his dwelling; his communion with his Maker is not distracted by the cares of life; religion holds up to his enraptured view her choicest consolations; he looks forward without a fear to that moment when his labours will cease, and the triumphs of heaven be his portion for ever.

Compare the situation of such an individual, my beloved hearers, with the situation of the man, involved in the hurry and bustle of the world. Consider those thousand contingencies upon which his success in business must depend. Not all the efforts which the most prudent man can make to secure his concerns from derangement, will always prove effectual. When his affairs at home afford him a pleasant prospect, his disappointments from abroad throw him into confusion, and defeat his plans. He sees a storm of adverse fortune approaching, which chills him to the heart; he perceives that no wisdom he possesses, can secure him from the blow; the wife of his bosom he is sensible will feel the shock; his beloved children checked in their expectations tremble under the influence of a father's sorrows; he goes to his pillow to look for rest, but that pillow, once the seat of quietude, refuses him the aid he seeks; his mind is distracted with the heavy burthen of his cares, and he rises in the morning with a countenance indicative of sorrow and of woe.

Such being the distress, in which the pursuit of wealth so frequently plunges us, distress, which at the present moment is felt by so many whom I love and respect; by so many to whom I feel attached by a thousand tender considerations, let me entreat you, beloved parishioners, to remember, that in the derangement of your temporal prospects, your happiness is not so essentially interested, as upon a superficial view of things you may imagine. Happiness, rely on it, is not dependent upon wealth. Contentment of mind, rests upon no such uncertain foundation. If peace and comfort flow from no source but riches, your preacher must always have been miserable, for wealth he never had, & wealth, from his situation of life, he never can obtain. Let me therefore entreat you to be submissive to the reverse of fortune, with which many of you have to struggle; the calamity, if it deserves the name is universal; Europe, as well as the land in which we live, groans beneath the burden.

A mediocrity of fortune, is within the reach of every sober minded, industrious man. Plenty to satisfy our necessary wants will never be denied us; having food and raiment, let us be content; "man wants but little here below, nor wants that little long." The prospect of our crops is abundant; the Almighty with the finger of mercy points to his inexhaustable stores, and invites us to partake of the bounties of his providence. Luxuries can be dispensed with, and we shall find an increase of happiness growing out of such a dispensation. The ceremonies and unnecessary parade of life, does not contribute to real enjoyment; it is the bane of social intercourse; it strips society of its delights, and substitutes an empty void for solid comfort.—Think me not a novice! my observation and experience proclaim to me the truth of my remarks, 'learn then of Christ, who was meek and lowly in heart:' be tender and indulgent to each other; let economy be the order of the day; let us rise in all the majesty of union, and frown upon dissipation and extravagance; let us guard our expences and direct our outgoings into such channels, as God and reason, in this time of commercial distress, will approve. If those who have escaped the pressure of the times, will set the example, the effect will be such, as the purest moralist could wish; in a word, disappointed in your worldly arrangements, look to the Lord Jesus for comfort, and you will find rest to your souls.

AUTHENTIC NARRATIVE,

Of an extraordinary escape from Drowning, after being wrecked among the rapids of the St. Lawrence.

On the 22d day of April, 1810, our party set sail in a large schooner from Fort George, or Niagara Town, and in two days crossed Lake Ontario to Kingston, at the head of the river St. Lawrence, distant from Niagara about 200 miles. Here we hired an American barge (a large flat bottomed boat) to carry us to Montreal, a further distance of 200 miles; then set out from Kingston on the 28th of April, & arrived the same evening at Ogdensburg, a distance of 75 miles.—The following evening we arrived at Cornwall, and the succeeding night at Pointe du Lac, on Lake St. Francis. Here our bargemen obtained our permission to return up the river; and we embarked in another barge, deeply laden with pot ashes, passengers, and luggage. Above Montreal, for nearly 100 miles, the St. Lawrence is interrupted in its course by rapids, which are occasioned by the river being confined in comparatively narrow, shallow, and rocky channels; through these it rushes with great force and noise; and is agitated like the ocean in a storm.—Many people prefer these rapids, for grandeur of appearance to the Falls of Niagara. They are from half a mile to 9 miles long each, and require regular pilots. On the 30th of April we arrived at the village of the Cedars immediately below which are three sets of very dangerous rapids (the Cedars, the Split-rock, and the Cascades) distant from each other about one mile. On the morning of the 1st of May we set out from the Cedars, the barge very deep and very leaky. The captain, a daring rash man, refused to take a pilot. After we passed the Cedar rapid, not without danger, the captain called for some rum, swearing, at the same time, that God Almighty could not steer the barge better than he did.—Soon after this we entered the Split-rock rapids by a wrong channel, and found ourselves advancing rapidly towards a dreadful watery precipice, down which we went. The barge slightly grazed her bottom against the rock, and the fall was so great as nearly to take away the breath. We here took in a great deal of water, which was mostly baled out again before we were hurried on to what the Canadians call the "grand bouillon," or great boiling. In approaching this place the captain let go the helm, saying, "By God! here we fall." The barge was almost immediately overwhelmed in the midst of immense foaming breakers, which rushed over the bows, carrying away planks, oars, &c. About half a minute elapsed between the filling and going down of the barge, during which I had sufficient presence of mind to strip off my three coats, and was loosing my suspenders, when the barge sunk, and I found myself floating in the midst of people, baggage, &c. Each man caught hold of something, one of the crew caught hold of me, and kept me down under the water, but, contrary to my expectation, let me go again. On rising to the surface, I got hold of a trunk, on which two other men were then holding. Just at this spot, where the Split-rock rapids terminate, the bank of the river is well inhabited; and we could see women on shore running about, much agitated. A canoe put off, and picked up three of our number, who had gained the bottom of the barge, which had upset and got rid of its cargo; these they landed on an island. The canoe put off again, and was approaching near to where I was, with two others, holding on the trunk, when, terrified with the vicinity of the cascades, to which we were approaching, it put back, notwithstanding my exhortations in French and English, to induce the two men on board to advance. The bad hold which one man had of the trunk, to which we were adhering, subjected him to constant immersion, and, in order to escape his seizing hold of me, I let go the trunk, and, in conjunction with another man, got hold of the boom (which, with the gaff, sails, &c. had been detached from the mast, to make room for the cargo) and floated off. I had just time to grasp this boom, when we were hurried into the Cascades; in these I was instantly buried, and nearly suffocated. On rising to the surface, I found one of my hands still on the boom, and my companion still adhering to the gaff. Shortly after descending the Cascades, I perceived the barge, bottom upwards, floating near me. I succeeded in getting to it, and held by a crack in one end of it; the violence of the water, and the falling out of the casks of ashes, had quite wrecked it.—For a long time I contented myself with this hold, not daring to endeavor to get upon the bottom, which I at length effected; and from this, my new situation, I called out to my companion, who still preserved his hold of the gaff. He shook his head; and, when the waves suffered me to look up again, he was gone. He made no attempt to come near me, being unable or unwilling to let go his hold, and trust himself to the waves, which were then rolling over his head.

The Cascades are a kind of fall, or rapid descent in the river, over a rocky channel below: going down is called by the French "Sauter," to leap or shove the cascades. For two miles below, the channel continues in uproar, just like a storm at sea; and I was frequently nearly washed off the barge by the waves which rolled over. I now entertained no hope whatever of escaping; and although I continued to exert myself to hold on, such was the state to which I was reduced by cold, that I wished only for speedy death, and frequently thought of giving up the contest as useless. I felt as if compressed into the size of a monkey; my hands appeared diminished in size one half; and I certainly should (after I became very cold and much exhausted) have fallen asleep, but for the waves that were passing over me, and obliged me to attend to my situation. I had never descended the St. Lawrence before, but I knew there were more rapids ahead, perhaps another set of the cascades; but at all events, the La Chine rapids, whose situation I did not exactly know. I was in hourly expectation of these putting an end to me, and often fancied some points of ice extending from the shore to be the head of foaming rapids. At one of the moments in which the succession of waves permitted me to look up, I saw at a distance a canoe with four men coming towards me, and waited in confidence to hear the sound of their paddles: but in this I was disappointed; the men, as I afterwards learned, were Indians (genuine descendents of the Tartars) who happening to fall in with one of the passenger's trunks, picked it up, and returned to the shore for the purpose of pillaging it, leaving, as they since acknowledged, the man on the boat to his fate.—Indeed, I am certain, I should have had more to fear from their avarice, than to hope from their humanity: and it is more than probable that my life would have been taken to secure them in the possession of my watch, and several half eagles which I had about me. The accident happened about eight o'clock in the morning in the course of some hours as the day advanced, the sun grew warmer, the wind blew from the south, and the water became calmer. I got upon my knees, and found myself in the small lake of St. Louis, about three to five miles wide; with some difficulty I got upon my feet, but was soon convinced, by cramps and spasms in all my sinews, that I was quite incapable of swimming any distance, and I was then two miles from shore. I was now going with wind and current to destruction; and cold hungry and fatigued, was obliged to sit down in the water to rest, when an extraordinary circumstance greatly relieved me. On examining the wreck, to see if it was possible to detach any part thereof to steer by, I perceived something loose, entangled in a fork of the wreck, and so carried along. This I found to be a small trunk, bottom upwards, which with some difficulty I dragged upon the barge. After near an hour's work, in which I broke my penknife, trying to cut out the lock, I made a hole in the trunk, to my great satisfaction, drew out a bottle of rum, a cold tongue, some cheese, and a bag full of bread, cakes &c. all wet. Of these I made a seasonable, though very moderate, use and the trunk answered the purpose of a chair to sit upon, elevated above the surface of the water.

After in vain endeavoring to steer the wreck, or direct its course to the shore, and having made every signal (with my waistcoat, &c.) in my power, to the headlands which I had passed, I fancied I was driving into a bay, which however, soon proved to be the termination of the lake, and the opening of the river, the current of which was carrying me rapidly along. I passed several small uninhabited islands, but the banks of the river appearing to be covered with houses, I again renewed my signals with my waistcoat, and a shirt which I took out of the trunk, hoping, as the river narrowed, they might be perceived; the distance was too great. The velocity with which I was going convinced me of my near approach to the dreadful rapids of La Chine. Night was drawing on, my destruction appeared certain, but did not disturb me very much; the idea of death had lost its novelty, and became quite familiar. Finding signals in vain, I now set up a cry or howl, such as I thought best calculated to carry to a distance, and, being favored by the wind, it did, although at above a mile's distance, reach the ears of some people on the shore. At last I perceived a boat rowing toward me, which being very small and white-bottomed, I had for some time taken for a fowl with a white breast; and I was taken off the barge by capt. Johnstone, after being ten hours in the water. I found myself at the village of La Chine, 21 miles below where the accident happened, and having been driven by the winding of the current a much greater distance. I received no other injury than bruised kness and breast, with a slight cold—the accident took some hold of my imagination, and for seven or eight succeeding nights, in my dreams, I was engaged in the dangers of the cascades, and surrounded by drowning men.

Bridgetown, (Barbadoes,) Jan. 25.

Subjoined is the purport of a letter found in a bottle, in front of the Plantation Madia, (Correntine, Coast Berbice,) on the 6th inst. The original is in French.

"Friday, 13th Nov. 1818.

"I write this under the dread of either missing Cayenne to-morrow, or of perishing in the attempt to make it.

"I am desirous that this letter should reach Mr. Bernard, sen. a planter in Cayenne, and who I beg not to grieve himself—he has a good brother, my daughter Laura, and her little ones left to console him. I recommend to his care my little Caroline, whom I have left boarded (restee en pension) at Nantes, and who in loosing her mother looses her all; her father being very old.

"I embarked the 1st of August, with my two daughters, Albertina de la Grave and Fanny, and we have been tossing about on the sea ever since; the captain of our brig, the Hope, (L'Esperance) of Bordeaux, carried us, without knowing any better, to the coast of Africa; in 25 degrees of longitude, and in the latitude of Sierra Leone, he supposed himself off Cayenne, when he fell in with a vessel from New-York, bound to Buenos Ayres, called the Horatio, the master of which shewed him really where he was; he then stood again to the westward and approached near the land; has this evening anchored close to it entirely ignorant where he is. We were this morning in latitude 4 32, and have made little headway since; but as he intends getting under weigh to morrow morning and leaving this hole, which he calls the Bag of Aprocapue, I am of opinion that he will either run us into the breakers between the Grand Constable (Grand Connetable) and the land, or else miss Cayenne altogether. My children are gay and unconcerned; but me, alas! I tremble at being in such ignorant hands.

"Adieu my children; if we perish, send up your prayers and supplications for me and your sisters, and preserve us in your remembrance, the idea of which I feel to be as necessary to me as existence itself.

(Signed)

"Maria Charlotte Guiot Darpaire, widow of the late Monsieur de la Grave, and now wife of Monsieur Salardier Contractor of the post at Nantes.

"My father is at Angouleme.

"Monsieur Bernard Ame, at Cayenne."

SINGULAR FATALITY BY LIGHTNING.

Two men were killed by lightning in Woolwich, on the 7th inst. They had retired to bed in the garret, containing two beds, the head of each standing against the chimney, together with two others; the lightning killed one man in each bed; the other two escaped unhurt!

The lightning passed into the chamber below, where an old lady was reading her bible, with her hands on the leaves and fingers spread open, it passed through her fingers burning two of them, and the corners of half a dozen leaves of the bible; thence it descended to the lower room, where a man was sleeping on an iron bound chest, it stove the chest to pieces, the man receiving no material injury. There were 28 people in the house.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

Reported for the Franklin Gazette.

MAYOR'S COURT.

LARCENY—Commonwealth vs. Legree.

The Mayor's court met on Monday last. No cases, however, of any interest, occurred until Wednesday, when the prosecuting officer prepared to bring Stephen Legree, a Frenchman, to his trial, upon an indictment for larceny.

The defendant, by his counsel, entered a plea of not guilty, and suggesting his alienage, challenged the array and craved the court to allow him a jury de mediatate linguæ;—ora jury, one half of whom should be aliens, and capable of understanding the language of the defendant.

On behalf of the application, the counsel cited a case in 1 Dallas's Reports, determined in 1783, the only one reported upon the subject, in which Chief Justice M'Kean recognized the statute of 28 Edward III by which the jury de mediatate linguæ was given to the English law, as being in force in this Commonwealth. The judge, however, strongly intimates his reluctance to acquiesce in this position; and, finally, accedee to it solely because evidence was given that a jury of this kind had once before been allowed here. The counsel also referred to the report of the Judges of the Supreme Court upon the English statutes in force in Pennsylvania; among which the one in question is included.

On the part of the commonwealth, it was contended that an English statute, being enacted at a time when the defendant in a similar prosecution was not allowed counsel to assist him, was intended solely to give an accused alien the chance of being understood by at least half the jury whom he addressed: that at this time, and particularly in this country, a defendant, always at liberty to speak through his counsel, needed nothing of this kind; that in fact the effect would be adverse to the defendant, as half the jury de mediatate might not understand the counsel who spoke for him: that to allow the application would only tend to embarrass and procrastinate the operations of justice, without, in the smallest degree, contributing to give the defendant a fairer trial. In respect to the decision in 1 Dallas's Reports, it was observed that it took place very early after our emancipation from English government and English law, and before our legislatures had made any provisions respecting juries: that since, however, by an act of assembly passed in 1805, the Legislature had obviously taken the matter into consideration, and had made all the law upon the subject, which could with propriety be now recognized as in force.

The court hold the subject under advisement.

To the readers of the Franklin Gazette, who are not nicely versed in the history and formation of our code, will it not appear singular, that a Frenchman should in the nineteenth century, and in the state of Pennsylvania, demand the benefit of an English statute, passed in the year 1350?

From the New-York Columbian, June 16.

The following interesting letter needs no comment, and we trust will receive the immediate notice of all concerned:

New-Rochelle, June 15.

To the editor of the New-York Columbian:

SIR—I have read with astonishment, and I may almost say with indignation, the very many details, of deaths of persons, occasioned by the bite of dogs affected with hydrophobia. With astonishment, that a disease should be permited to arrive to a crisis when all exertions are vain and useless; and with indignation because I verily believe that the members of the Medical Society in this county, were well informed that Jesse Lewis, of Mamaroneck has an infallible remedy in case of bite by mad dogs if applied within two weeks from the infliction of the wound; which information they ought to have made known. In the case of the lad in Lombardy street, mentioned in your paper of yesterday, I authorise you to state to his parents or friends, that Lewis will cure him to a certainty, if immediately applied to.

I can satisfy the most incredulous of the efficacy of its regimen, if necessary, and I assure you I should not have said thus much, if I had not been a witness to its success, I am, sir, yours, &c.

JACOB BARTOW.

The bank of Hudson has shut up shop, and made an assignment of its property for the benefit of its creditors—honorary to be first paid—how much will be paid to those of a contrary character, is at present very uncertain. We have been told their bills are not worth fifty per cent—some say, not twenty-five; and others, that they are no better than blank paper. But, as there were several honorable men in the direction, we are not ready to believe every report to its disadvantage.—'Tis bad enough when a bank is obliged to stop payment and to assign its property—but if the winding up of the concerns of the Hudson bank is judiciously managed, the holders of its paper cannot, in our opinion in the result, be more than partial losers.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

By the fast sailing ship Canton, captain Rogers, the editors of the Mercantile Advertiser have received Liverpool papers to the 15th, London to the 13th, and Lloyd's list to the 11th May, inclusive. The Canton sailed on the 15th. Archibald Gracie, esq. came passenger.

The cotton market at Liverpool had been steady for all descriptions, during the week preceding the 15th May. The sales comprised 5200 bales of Upland at 11½ a 13¼d; and 1860 bales N. Orleans at 11¼ to 16½d It will be seen, however, that there were numerous arrivals in the course of the week which carried about 25,000 bales; and we learn that much commercial distress still existed.

Land for Sale

I WILL sell a great bargain in a small tract of land, containing about 150 acres, more or less, lying on the Potomac river and Monroe's creek, between the two, on the north side said creek, and forming the mouth, whereon William Williams has for many years resided. This situation would be particularly convenient for any person who follows the water, the Creek forming an excellent harbor, and the neighborhood being wealthy, constant freights might be got. The land is susceptible of great improvement, and is the very best wheat land in all the neighborhood. As it is presumed any person wishing to purchase will first view the premises, a further description is thought unnecessary. For terms apply to the subscriber, near Mattox Bridge, Westmoreland county, Virginia.

Most Valuable Landed Property for Sale.

BEING anxious to move to the south-western country, I am disposed to sell that most valuable and well known farm in Charles county, Maryland, called The Meadows, and a part of Westwood Manor.—This tract contains 930 acres, is most eligibly situated, lying in the fork of the two branches of the Wicomico river. As to fertility of soil, and advantages of every description, it is equalled but by few—surpassed by none.

Also, the farm on which I reside, called Somerset, in the County of King George, Virginia. This tract contains 676 acres, by late survey, and is also well situated, lying on the Potomac river, (opposite col. J. Tayloe's Maryland Poin testate) and bounded by the same upwards of a mile, is in a progressive state of improvement under the clover and plaster system, which has succeeded beyond my most sanguine expectations.

Also, two other small tracts in Westmoreland county, Va. containing 325 acres.

Also, 1140 acres of military land, in the state of Ohio.

As it is presumed that no person will (and as it is my desire that no one should) purchase without viewing the premises, I will not give a minute description of these tracts. Indisputable title will be made in every instance. Persons wishing to purchase, will please make application personally, or by letter addressed, to the subscriber, near Hampstead post office, Va.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber on the 25th of April last, negro SAM, formerly the property of Mr. William Robinson, of Fairfax county, Virginia, of whom I purchased him about 18 months ago—He is 23 years of age, stout and well made, 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, of a dark complexion, has an impediment in his speech when spoken to—his dress consisted of a coarse blue cloth coat and pantaloons, a great coat of shaggy cloth. He formerly worked in a brick and timber yard in Alexandria, and has some relations in Westmoreland county, and also at the Sedley Mills in Fairfax, where I purchased him. The above reward will be given to any person who will deliver him to me in Loudoun county, or secure him in any jail so that I get him again.

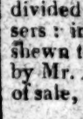
House and Lot for Sale.



I wish to sell, on accommodating terms, the two story brick store and dwelling house at the upper end of King-st. where I at present reside. This house is new and built of the best materials, and is in the most healthy part of the town, with several pumps of good water very convenient. The first story of this house is a large spacious store in front, with a back building attached to the kitchen, connected by a pantry with the rooms above, which are convenient and comfortable for the accommodation of a family.—The situation of the above property for the flour and grocery business is not surpassed by any other on the street, being near to several waggon yards.

This property I will sell for Franklin bank paper; a part of which will be required in hand, and the balance on very easy terms to the purchaser.

Public Sale.

ON the 9th DAY of JULY next, at 12 o'clock of that day, by virtue of a deed of trust, we will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the premises, that very valuable tract of land in Fairfax county, near Holmes's Run, and about four miles from Alexandria, generally known by the name of containing about 115 acres. This land is about one half in wood—the balance cleared, and in cultivation, with convenient buildings on it, and excellent water near them. A considerable proportion of the open land is fertile, and well calculated for timothy meadows.

The sum of $2,254 77 cts will be required to be paid in cash; for the residue a credit of twelve months will be given from the day of sale, the purchaser paying interest thereon, and giving satisfactory security for the punctual payment thereof. A conveyance will be made when the purchase money and interest is all paid up. If the terms of the sale should not be complied with by the purchaser, the premises will be immediately re-sold to the highest bidder, at the risque of the person to whom it shall have been struck off; and the same course will be repeated until an effectual sale shall have taken place.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stocks, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

100 Dollars Reward.

IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.

The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of this flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE, Fairfax Court-House, Va.
